

Laurelle Halford MPRIA

Alice Springs Consultant

Laurelle is Creative Territory's Alice Springs consultant and services key clients in Central Australia.

Laurelle has lived and worked in Alice Springs for eight years in the tourism industry, government and event sector. She has worked with Desert Knowledge Australia, guiding public relations and marketing on the project since its infancy. She has managed and promoted several key Central Australian sporting and arts events, and within the tourism industry, has worked both with and as a tour operator to promote tourism product and experiences to a local, national and international audience. In her time in Alice Springs, Laurelle has worked in varying capacities with both the Northern Territory and national media for events such as major national conferences, tourism events and the indigenous arts industry, and for environment and sustainability organisations.

She is a keen contributor to the community serving on various local committees and boards in an advisory or volunteer capacity. She serves as a director on the Tourism Central Australia Board.

Laurelle is a Member of the Public Relations Institute of Australia.
